SERIOUS OPERATION

About five years ago the Spanish-American had an article in their weekly issue that read something like this: We have in our midst a Surgeon of unusual note and hope that the people will appreciate the advantage of having as fine a Surgeon as Doctor Carus Plumlee locate in the town of Roy.

On Monday morning of this week an operation of unusual importance was performed at the Plumlee Hospital. Dr. Plumlee assisted by Dr. M. D. Gibbs performing the operation.

Because of deformity of the Mother, she was unable to give birth naturally to her child. Realizing the conditions, preparations were immediately made for an operation to save the life of the mother as well as the child, and the operation of Cesarean Section was performed and a 3-2 pound girl baby brought into this world in seemingly perfect health and at the time of this writing, the Mother's condition is as good as could be expected.

Altho these operations are serious and statistics show that very large per cent of both mother and baby die. There are few towns the size of Roy that can boast of a Hospital and one so well equipped as we have here and we have just right to be proud. The above being just one instance of the difficult and tedious operations, for hundreds have been handled just as successfully and among them, all of the dangerous operations that can be performed.

The death rate of this little institution compares favorably with the largest and best equipped anywhere as it has been about one out of each hundred and many of those were brought after all hopes were gone.

The S. A. wishes to congratulate doctors on their success in this dangerous operation.
